

Payment per qualification submitted for evaluation

SAQA charges a fee for the evaluation of foreign qualifications as follows:

The first (or only one) qualification: R2 270,00
Every subsequent qualification: R950,00

Where application is made for more than one qualification, the additional qualification fee is applicable. If separate submissions are made for more than one qualification evaluation request, it is regarded as a first qualification application each time and fees will be applied as such. The applications will have separate submission numbers, but a unique reference number once registered as a compliant application.

The following examples serve to clarify when to enter one qualification for evaluation:

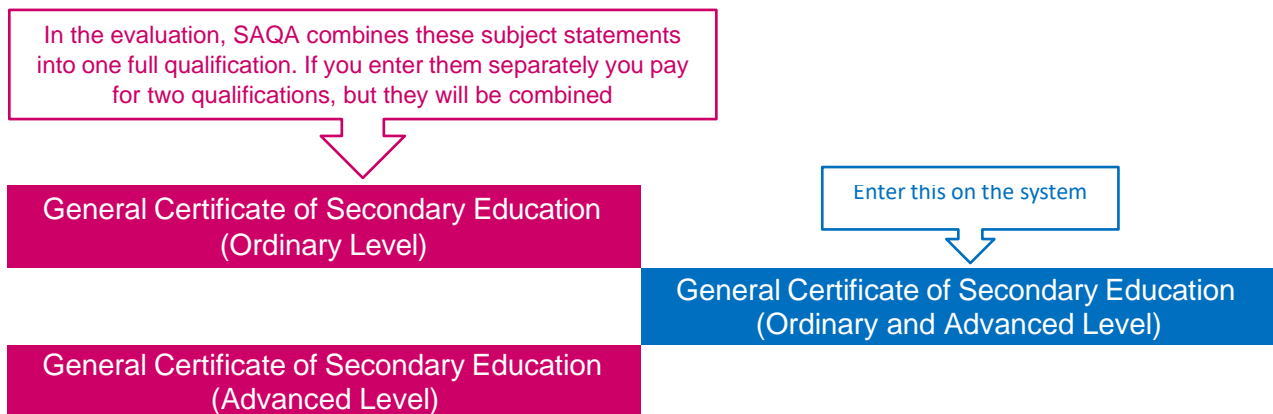

Example 1:

When you have a final school leaving qualification, do not enter the preceding (mid-way) school qualification on the system as well, even if you include the documents in your application. If you add this as a qualification to be evaluated, the system will read it as a qualification in its own right and automatically calculate the payment due for it.

Example 2:

When school leaving qualifications consist of several subject statements, for example the General Certificate of Secondary Education Ordinary Level and Advanced Level subjects, these must be entered into the "Qualifications to be evaluated" section as one qualification so that only the fee for one qualification is charged.

Example 3:

Where a Postgraduate Diploma forms the first part of a Master's Degree (as in the British system) and you have achieved the Master's Degree, it incorporates the Postgraduate Diploma. The two are not separate qualifications, even if you submit the documentation for both.
